

GOSH Summer School 2021 stART Competition!

On behalf of GOSH Learning Academy, PGME would like to invite you to enter “The Handprint Project- stART” competition as part our virtual GOSH Summer School educational event.

This is a new opportunity for medical students and early career trainees with an interest in paediatrics to get creative for children at GOSH.

Hospitals are often scary and daunting places for children. Art has the power to reduce anxiety, pain and allow expression and communication. The aim of this project is to reduce the worries and fears of children in the hospital through art.

Participants are welcome to submit creative artwork, that can provide a welcome distraction for children at GOSH. Participants can enter under one of the following categories:

- Fine Art (Drawing, painting, posters)
- Digital/Performance Art (Animations, video, dance, music) – 5 minutes in length maximum, e.g. <https://youtu.be/020EOsVGAo8>

A prize will be awarded to the competition winner on the second day of GOSH Summer School.

Criteria for Submission

- All filming must be done in landscape not portrait
- Low budget and low tech - iPhones are fine!
- No patients or confidential material should be featured
- No material should be subject to copyright and permission gained from whoever is being filmed
