

Assessing Risk in Young People with Mental Health difficulties

A Paediatric Simulation Training Course

2024 Dates: 5th March, 25th June, 17th September

Session time	10am to 4pm (face-to-face)
Venue	Charles West Boardroom, Great Ormond Street Hospital
Price	Free for GOSH staff £150 for external candidates
Who should apply	Any patient-facing hospital staff who informally or formally assess risk or encounter risk in the young people they see
Faculty	Dr Gareth Drake Psychologist in Simulation Clinical Psychologist Dr Sacha Evans Consultant Child & Adolescent Psychiatrist

This course will combine essential teaching in mental health assessment with interactive simulations that afford attendees the chance to practice assessing and communicating with young people with mental health difficulties, while keeping in mind the needs of parents and other members of the MDT. Attendees will leave with the capacity to:

- Judge what information is relevant to provide when referring to child and adolescent psychiatry/psychology/mental health teams
- Formulate a risk assessment of children and adolescents presenting with mental health problems in paediatric settings
- Demonstrate an understanding of the legal framework for children and adolescents presenting with mental health problems

How to apply:

5th March: Click here to book

25th June: Click here to book

17th September: Click here to book

PREVIOUS FEEDBACK

“Very open atmosphere encourages learning and reflection”